

MEM
AP
I 38
E 17
V. 45
4

The Indian Economic and Social History Review

Volume XLV Number 4 October–December 2008

CONTENTS

ARUPJYOTI SAIKIA/ History, buranjis and nation: Suryya Kumar Bhuyan's histories in twentieth-century Assam	473
PARINETHA SHETTY/ Missionary pedagogy and christianisation of the heathens: The educational institutions introduced by the Basel Mission in Mangalore	509
PAUL AXELROD/ Living on the edge: The village and the state on the Goa-Maratha frontier	553

Book Reviews

S. Ravi Rajan, Modernizing Nature: Forestry and Imperial Eco-Development, 1800–1950 and Aniket Alam, Becoming India: Western Himalayas under British Rule , by Antje Linkenbach	581
Kevin Grant, Philippa Levine and Frank Trentmann, eds, Beyond Sovereignty: Britain, Empire and Transnationalism, c. 1880–1950 and Thomas R. Metcalf, Imperial Connections: India in the Indian Ocean Arena, 1860–1920 , by Claude Markovits	585
Ashutosh Dayal Mathur, Medieval Hindu Law: Historical Evolution and Enlightened Rebellion , by Donald R. Davis, Jr.	588
Javed Majeed, Autobiography, Travel and Postnational Identity: Gandhi, Nehru and Iqbal , by Faisal Devji	590
Ulrike Stark, An Empire of Books: The Naval Kishore Press and the Diffusion of the Printed Word in Colonial India , by Francesca Orsini	593
Seema Alavi, Islam and Healing: Loss and Recovery of an Indo-Muslim Medical Tradition, 1600–1900 and Guy Attewell, Refiguring Unani Tibb. Plural Healing in Late Colonial India , by Margrit Pernau	596
Meera Kosambi, Crossing Thresholds: Feminist Essays in Social History , by Prachi Deshpande	601
Nandini Bhattacharyya-Panda, Appropriation and Invention of Tradition: The East India Company and Hindu Law in Early Colonial Bengal , by Rosane Rocher	604
Ishita Banerjee-Dube, Religion, Law and Power: Tales of Time in Eastern India, 1860–2000 , by Sekhar Bandyopadhyay	605
Index to Volume XLV	609