MINDS@UW (http://minds.wisconsin.edu/) is designed to gather, distribute, and preserve digital materials related to the University of Wisconsin's research and instructional mission. Content, which is deposited directly by UW faculty and staff, may include research papers and reports, pre-prints and post-prints, datasets and other primary research materials, learning objects, theses, student projects, conference papers and presentations, and other born-digital or digitized research and instructional materials.

How does MINDS@UW benefit you?

- Increase in visibility, ease of discovery, and citation count
- High marks in Google Scholar, OAIster, and other specialized academic search engines
- Permanent archiving with stable, citable URLs
- Full-text searching
- Easy linking from courseware
- Personalized e-mail and RSS notification of new content
- Branded community and collection pages

How do you get involved?

Get in touch with your campus-librarian contact for signup materials:

Eau Claire: Colleen McFarland, mcfarlc@uwec.edu
Green Bay: Marlys Brunsting, brunstim@uwgb.edu
LaCrosse: Bill Doering, doering.will@uwlax.edu
Madison: Dorothea Salo, dsalo@library.wisc.edu
Milwaukee: Michael Doylen, doylenm@uwm.edu
Parkside: Nick Weber, webern@uwp.edu
River Falls: Heidi Southworth, heidi.southworth@uwrf.edu
Stevens Point: Terri Muraski, tmuraski@uwsp.edu
Stout: Carol Hagness, hagnesssc@uwstout.edu
Superior: Debra Nordgren, dnordgre@uwsuper.edu
Whitewater: Dianne Witte, witted@mail.uww.edu
UW-Colleges: Mark Rozmarynowski, mrozmary@uwc.edu

If your campus is not on the above list, please contact Dorothea Salo (dsalo@library.wisc.edu).

How do you deposit your work?

Once you have signed up and been added to MINDS@UW as a submitter:

1. Click on the “My DSpace” link on the main page.
2. Log in with your campus ID and password.
3. Click on the “Start a New Submission” button.
4. ... and follow along!

Once you are used to the system, a submission takes five minutes or less from beginning to end.